CREATIVE WRITING TO BE TAUGHT AT SSCC

Beginning Spring quarter, creative writing will be taught by Shelton English instructor Louis Skipper. Skipper has established himself as a poet with his limited edition of poems published in 1976 entitled "Small Song of the New Moon." He is currently working on a new manuscript, "Parts of a Sacred Body." Before joining the Shelton faculty full-time, Skipper served as writer-in-residence at the college and has acted as a consultant to the Alabama Department of Mental Health in liason with the National Endowment of the Arts. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama and received his master's degree in English from Hollins College in Virginia. He received his Master of Fine Arts in creative writing from the University of Iowa's Writers' Workshop.

Skipper says the times of the meetings, assignments, credit hours are all flexible, and anyone interested in exploring their talent as a poet, fiction writer, or playwright should contact the dean of instruction's office. NO PRIOR EXPERIENCE IS NECESSARY.

FOLKROOTS EXHIBIT SCHEDULED

Folkroots: Image of Mississippi Black Folk Life, 1974-76, a photographic exhibition organized by Roland L. Freeman and folkorist Worth W. Long, will be on exhibit March 7 - April 7 at Shelton State Junior College library. The exhibit is the product of a 20-month ethnographic survey of southwest Mississippi black folklife. In 1977, Folkroots became the first major photographic exhibit featuring black folklife to be shown in the Mississippi State Historical Museum. In the 55 prints, Roland Freeman captures a regional cultural portrait of the rural black experience.

The exhibit is being brought to Tuscaloosa in conjunction with the Shelton State Folk Festival, Tuesday, April 5, as part of the observance of Heritage Week in Tuscaloosa. The exhibit is open to the public during regular library hours, Monday - Thursday 8 a.m. - 10 p.m. and Friday 8 a.m. - 4 p.m.

TECHNICAL TALK

Some of the cosmetology students recently toured several local beauty salons in order to determine what type of salon they might work in one day. All of the students agreed it was an interesting and enlightening tour. . . .The TUSCALOOSA NEWS has been at the Technical Division recently taking photographs of several projects the welding department has completed. . . .Mrs. Fredd's class graduates Wednesday, March 2. Congratulations!!!!!!!!!!
